

Beveridge at Sagamore Hill

TALKS CAMPAIGN PLANS AND TELLS OF TRIP IN MAINE.

Roosevelt is Resting Preparatory to the Hard Work He Has Ahead of Him—Is Interested in the Eastern War.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 8.—President Roosevelt passed the day quietly at Sagamore Hill. After taking his usual morning horseback ride, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, he worked in his library with Secretary Loeb for two hours. He is resting systematically now preparatory to the hard work of the autumn and winter ahead of him.

He manifests the deepest interest and concern in the situation in the Far East and follows carefully the press reports of the operations of the contending armies, but very little official news from the Orient is being transmitted to him.

Drafts of annual reports of some department officials have begun to reach the president, but it is yet too early for the reports of the heads of departments on which to some extent he bases his annual message to congress. Because of the pending campaign these reports may be later this year than usual.

Senator Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, arrived here today from New York, and was driven to Sagamore Hill in time for luncheon. He has just returned from his vacation in the Maine woods and desires to talk over the campaign situation with the president before returning to his home in Indiana. He will participate actively in the campaign in several states, but expects to spend the greater part of his time in Indiana.

After his conference with the President, which he said was principally of a personal nature, Senator Beveridge said:

"I told the president of some of my experiences in the Maine woods, one of the features of which was a trip of 220 miles in a canoe. I dislike to make political predictions, but it appears to me that the fight has been practically won by the Republicans. Unless there should be a Democratic landslide, and there are no indications of such a thing, I believe Roosevelt will be elected by the biggest majority that a president has received since the Civil War. I think Parker will be defeated even more decisively than Bryan was in either of his campaigns. As to Indiana, I do not care to talk. We have been steadily increasing our gains in the state for several years. In the last election we had a majority of 35,000. I see no reason why we should not increase that majority this fall. Of the four congressional districts now held by Democrats, I think we shall at least capture one."

APATHY IN CONTROL

Of Political Situation in Indiana—Absolutely Nothing Doing.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Apathy has complete control of the political state committee. Reports to the state committee of the two old parties from the out counties are identical in import. There is absolutely "nothing doing." When the organizers undertake to arouse activity they find that the rank and file simply will not listen to them. Particularly is this true in the rural districts where the farmers refuse to pay any attention to politics.

While both of the old party committees are preparing to inject life into the situation by importing the best speakers in the party there is very little prospect, at this time, of a red-fire campaign. Politicians who have been in the harness half a century say that they never knew of as quiet a campaign year.

The Democratic leaders say that apathy is always disastrous to the party in power and, therefore, they consider it a good omen for Democrats. The Republican managers are worried. Ex-Congressman Will Cumbach, who is seventy-five years old and one of the most prominent of the Indiana Republicans, came to Indianapolis a few days ago expressly to tell the State Committee officials that the campaign is not moving off as briskly as he had hoped. "We must wake up and get out our vote," he said.

When talking for publication the Republican managers say that the people are too well satisfied with the prosperous conditions to allow politics to worry them.

The Democrats have adopted a new plan of organization. Heretofore the State chairman has tried to look after the various districts personally. This year the district chairmen are to be given broad powers in managing the campaign within their respective districts and they will be held responsible by the State Committee. This scheme was invented by National Chairman Taggart. Under the old plan some of the district chairmen were ineffective because they were not held responsible for results.

Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the National House of Representatives, is the leading feature of the campaign in Indiana this week. Saturday night he will open the campaign for the Republicans of the Sixth district at Richmond, and on Monday night he will perform a similar service for the Eleventh district Republicans by speaking at Marion.

William J. Bryan will devote more time in Indiana than in any other state outside of Nebraska. Every

Delaware Is For Parker

CLAIMED SHE WILL ASSUREDLY CAST ELECTORAL VOTE THAT WAY.

Congressman Houston Expresses Full Confidence That Such Will Be Result—States Issues Add Strength to National Ticket.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Representative Henry A. Houston, of Delaware was in the city today and called at the headquarters of the democratic Congressional committee at the Riggs House. Mr. Riggs added to the hopeful feeling of the headquarters officials by declaring that Delaware would give her electoral votes next November to Parker and Davis.

Not only was Mr. Houston ready to stake his reputation on the way Delaware would vote, but he had definite reasons for his judgment. He regards Delaware as a democratic state under any normal condition, and he could see nothing in the present situation to indicate anything that is not normal in the issues that separate the two great political parties in that state.

"Two years ago," he said "the state gave the republicans a majority of 2,500 in a total vote of 37,000. We will overcome that majority without difficulty."

"The democratic organization of the state is far superior to what it was in 1900 and in 1896. Not only is the organization better now than in those campaigns, but it is being improved daily, and our campaign cannot yet be said to have been opened. Next Tuesday the democratic state convention for the nomination of state officers will be held and after that we will get to work in earnest. I feel sure the feeling of the party is such that we will only nominate good men for all offices, but we will be able to have harmony throughout the party, so that we can present a solid front to the republicans."

"There is a widespread opinion among our people that the state has not been properly run; that taxation has been increased without any equivalent increase in the efficiency of the state government. Think of it. Taxes have been increased by the republicans in Kent county over 33 per cent, and there is no increased improvement to be pointed to as a result of the extra burden placed on the people. That comes home to every man in the state, whether he owns property or rents it. He knows that he has to pay that extra assessment. We cannot account for the additional expenditure except on the theory of graft. Graft is as unpopular in the state as it is in the National government. The people will see to it that the men who are responsible for this excessive taxation are relegated to the rear. The democrats will be given a chance to bring about a better condition in the conduct of our affairs."

"Not only is this state issue important in bringing about a democratic majority on the state ticket, but the people are quite as much alive to the conduct of the National government. The state situation only assists in showing how important it is to have good conservative men at the head of affairs. They want a government run with the conservatism that has characterized it at times in the past, when the law and Constitution amounted to something."

county in Indiana has applied to the State Committee for his services, which shows that he is immensely popular with the Hoosiers. It is the understanding in the inner circle that he will make thirty speeches in Indiana, beginning about September 26. Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for President, will open his national campaign at Masonic Hall, in this city, tonight.

The Socialists are claiming 30,000 votes in Indiana, which is over four times as many as they have ever polled. They expect to get a large free silver vote in the mining and manufacturing districts.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
